Parking, transport, and getting around Canberra:

- As Canberra residents know, parking on campus (unless you are staying at University House which has its own parking) is very difficult. There should be paid parking available in the carpark next to the Sir Roland Wilson Building if you arrive before 9.00am. However there is a 3 hour limit so extra tickets will have to be placed in the car during the day.

The number 3 bus also goes to the National Museum, the city (Civic), the National Gallery of Australia, the National Portrait Gallery, and to Parliament House. The bus-stop for buses going to the City (Civic) and national cultural institutions is close to the Sir Roland Wilson building and is located opposite University House on Liversidge St on the side closest to the Sir Roland Wilson Building.

- The ANU website provides maps on how to access the campus if you are driving as well as locations on campus. See the following webpage: http://campusmap.anu.edu.au/default.asp?script=true

- If you are travelling from interstate, taxis are available at the airport for travel to the city. However getting a taxi in Canberra is sometimes difficult and requires a telephone call: 13 22 27 or 6260 6011 are useful numbers.

Canberra & the ANU:

- We remind you that Canberra is very wet but not too cold at this time of the year and a coat and umbrella is generally required.

- Security issues are dealt with on the ANU website and a security bus operates at night.
